Official Launch Nov. 1st 2011

As a sole proprietor, do you find yourself spending too much time trying to market your programs, and too little time actually delivering them?

You know the benefits of writing: for physical and mental health, healing, personal growth and spiritual development. And you have developed excellent programs to share those benefits with others. But how do you reach your market? And at what cost?

Join The Therapeutic Writing Network now, and let us do the marketing for you!

With its launch on November 1st, The Therapeutic Writing Network is poised to become the worldwide centre for expressive, reflective, and therapeutic writing practitioners and their clients. And we want to add YOU to our list of instructors!

When you join The Therapeutic Writing Network, we provide the online learning management system platform for delivery of your program. You retain ownership of your program, and you set your own fees.
